

OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH & SAFETY

November 5, 2009

Eliana Holguin
Quaker Chemical Corp.
901 Hector Street
Conshohocken, PA 19428

Dear Eliana,

I want to take a moment to congratulate you on being a winner of the Occupational Health & Safety 2009 New Product of the Year Award. Your winning product serves as a beacon to which the health & safety industry can aspire.

As selected by the New Product of the Year judges, your product stood out from the rest of the entrants in your category. We are pleased to join with you in celebrating this achievement.

Our editor Jerry Laws and his staff were on hand at this year's National Safety Council Congress & Expo show in Orlando to personally congratulate each winner and present each with this year's award. In addition to your beautiful crystal award, you will receive:

- * Publicity in our newsletters and on our Web site.
- * Coverage in the December issue of Occupational Health & Safety magazine.
- * Permission to use the New Product of the Year award logo in all of your marketing and advertising materials for one year.

I speak for the entire staff at Occupational Health & Safety in saying that we are delighted that you have won this well-deserved recognition and hope that you will enter again in 2010.

Please let us know if we can provide any additional information. A high-resolution image of the New Product of the Year logo is attached to this message for your use.

Best Regards,

Russell Lindsay, Publisher

